

COUNTY GRAND JURY RENEWS GAMBLING PROBE

REFERENDUM ON WAR IS SHELVED BY HOUSE VOTE

Floor Consideration Of Proposal Rejected By 209-188 Ballot

PRESIDENT'S NOTE CONDEMNS BILL

Says Executive Would Be Crippled In Conduct Of Relations

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The house shelved the proposed war referendum amendment to the Constitution today, voting against floor consideration of the proposal.

Speaker Bankhead announced the vote against the referendum was 209 to 188.

Hear Roosevelt Letter
The motion went down to defeat shortly after the house had heard Speaker Bankhead read a letter from President Roosevelt condemning the amendment offered by Representative Ludlow (D-Ind.).

His resolution would have authorized a constitutional amendment, which three-fourths of the states would have to approve, calling for approval by the people in a national election before the United States could declare war.

President Roosevelt and house leaders appealed, before the vote, for defeat of the proposal.

The President warned that it would "cripple our president" in his conduct of our foreign relations.

It would encourage others
The President said in a letter to Speaker Bankhead which was read to the house, "to believe that they could violate American rights with impunity."

Written in response to a request from the speaker for an expression of the President's views, the letter was read shortly before house members were scheduled to vote on a resolution to call up a war referendum amendment for consideration.

Columbiana County Man Among Group From Outside Columbus To Be Questioned

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10.—Ten witnesses from outside Columbus were called before the special grand jury investigating the state parole system today as it sought to complete a heavy program before Tuesday's recess.

The jury at the same time was compiling a partial report of findings and recommendations, to be made public this week. The report is expected to recommend addition of one member to the four-man state parole board and to criticize sharply housing conditions at Ohio penitentiaries.

The investigators reached into the West Virginia state penitentiary for one of their witnesses: Tony Gaylan of Akron, who once served a prison term in this state.

Three other persons from Akron were to be questioned: Joe Gaylan, and Bertha and Kermit Waldorf.

Five persons were summoned here from Dayton: Rev. Mr. Maples, Negro Baptist minister; John C. Negro, parole officer; Narcissus Barnes, Negro, Howard Harman, a parolee; and Miss Gertrude Sixsmith.

Elisha Tucker of Columbiana county was the tenth witness subpoenaed.

Life for One, Death for Other

Harold Dahl (left), American aviator, and Bradish Johnson, news correspondent, are shown conversing in a prison hospital at Salamanca, Spain, where Dahl is serving life imprisonment since being freed of a death sentence through the plea of his wife to General Franco. Johnson was killed by a shell on the Teruel front.

FOUR OHIOANS DIE IN CRASH

Killed On Tracks In Indiana; Only One Fatality In State

(By Associated Press)
Only one fatal traffic accident was reported in the state over the weekend, as the cold wave left one man frozen to death and snow covering a large part of Ohio today.

Temperatures moderated somewhat after six-above-zero cold at Columbus resulted in the death of William Grant, 72, Negro, found frozen to death.

The lone fatal accident victim was Jacob Mayer, 21, killed at Cincinnati when his automobile failed to make a turn in a city park drive.

Four Ohioans were killed in a crossing crash at Waldron, Ind., 35 miles west of their home at Hamilton, and three others died as result of earlier accidents.

A "whoopie detail" of Cleveland police arrested 67 persons for traffic violations Saturday night and Sunday morning in a successful safety drive.

Not a single serious accident was reported during the hours which police statistics show to be the most critical.

A "double header" train ploughed full blast into an auto on the Waldron crossing, scattering parts of the car and bodies with great force.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. George Leveine, about 75, and their two sons, Otto, 50, and Jacob, 55, the driver. Authorities said witnesses reported the autoists apparently were watching a funeral on another road when they drove onto the tracks.

Elmer E. Gregg, 76, Succumbs At Home

Elmer E. Gregg, 76, died at 10 p. m. Sunday at his home, 174 W. Fifth st., of infirmities of age following six months' illness.

He was born Feb. 17, 1862, in North Fayette township, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, a son of John and Letitia Gregg.

On Jan. 15, 1896, he married Miss Mary A. Cratsley of McKees Rocks, Pa. For the last 22 years he had lived in Salem, coming here from McKees Rocks. He has been a carpenter until 1929, when he retired.

He was a member of the McKees Rocks Presbyterian church.

He leaves his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Claire Brooks of Youngstown and Mrs. Arthur Summers of Mt. Hope; four sons, Ralph of Youngstown and James S. Ralph of Ewing P. of Salem; three grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Emma McCalmont of Xenia.

The funeral will be held at 1 p. m. Wednesday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Calling hours will be from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home.

BUCKET SHOPS ARE INCLUDED IN COURT LIST

Request For Investigation Is Made By Judge W. F. Lones

EAST LIVERPOOL MAN IS FOREMAN

Group To Continue Inquiry Where September Jury Left Off

LISBON, Jan. 10.—The Columbiana county grand jury, seated this morning for its January term, a session not expected to last more than one week, heard Judge W. F. Lones ask for an investigation of gambling, rackets and "bucket shops" in the county.

Although the Ohio general code stipulates that a judge, in charging the grand jury, should ask for investigations of gambling, Judge Lones' request is believed to carry a real meaning.

Asked to Continue Work
The jurist asked that the new jurors "pick up" in the gambling quiz where the September grand jurors left off. The last grand jury, he pointed out, had so much other business to consider that its gambling probe was limited.

"Bucket shops" is the term applied to "phony" brokerage firms. The jury also may investigate alleged Communist activities in the county, recently pointed out by the American Legion.

J. H. Peake of East Liverpool was appointed jury foreman by Judge Lones when the 15 jurors took their places this morning. Twelve of the 50 probable witnesses were expected to testify today.

Joseph Curry of Wellsville was appointed grand jury bailiff by the judge and the latter named Mrs. Minnie Higgins as assistant court stenographer to take testimony.

The grand jurors seated include: SALEM DISTRICT — Percy B. Tucker, Isaac Barber, R. D. 5, and Charles Mead, North Georgetown. LISBON — Mrs. Pearl Gregg, R. D. 3.

EAST PALESTINE — Calvin Heck and Mrs. Della Shrample. LEETONIA — H. L. Snyder. COLUMBIANA — Cassius Orr.

EAST LIVERPOOL — Mrs. Harry Larkins, Mrs. George Cochran, C. D. Desher, Clyde Dawson and Foreman J. H. Peake.

"AGE RETURNS" DUE QUARTERLY

Assessments Under Social Security Law Payable Under New Plan; Change In 1940

Returns of old-age benefit assessments under the social security law, will be payable quarterly instead of monthly, beginning this year, John Grafton, deputy collector of internal revenue announced today.

Grafton maintains an office on the second floor of the postoffice here.

Returns last year were made monthly. The report for December must be made by employers not later than Jan. 31. However, the next report for January, February and March payments will be made not later than April 30. Reports also will be due July 31 and Oct. 31.

Payments for old-age benefits during 1938 and 1939 will continue at one per cent for employees and one per cent for employer, Grafton explained today in answer to reports that a higher rate would be effective this year. The rate is increased to one and one-half per cent for both employee and employer beginning Jan. 1, 1940.

Weatherman Sees Major Snow Storm

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said today a snow storm "of major importance" was approaching the Great Lakes region from the northwest.

An area of low barometric pressure centered early today over Saskatchewan and Alberta, Canada, and developed in intensity as it moved southeastward, he said.

Lloyd said the snow laden "low" with high winds but only moderate low temperatures probably would reach here tomorrow. Chicago had 4.9 inches of snow since yesterday.

Liverpool Probes Relief Situation

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 10.—Mayor Lee Copenhaver, Democrat, will ask assignment of a state investigator here to begin an inquiry into the direct relief situation.

Seeking a solution of the welfare problem, Copenhaver said he will order an investigation to determine if any so-called chiselers are among the 1,786 indigents on relief rolls.

Justice Cardozo Reported To Be Improved Today

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Physicians reported improvement today in the condition of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, who, they said, recently had suffered "alarming" heart attacks.

They declared, however, that the 67-year-old jurist, who has been ill for a month, would not be able to return to the supreme court bench for some time and must be kept "absolutely quiet."

Dr. John Paul Earnest, Cardozo's personal physician, issued this statement yesterday after consulting with two heart specialists:

"Justice Cardozo had a severe attack of shingles beginning about a month ago. The acute pain from the shingles and his long confinement in bed have weakened the justice considerably.

"The weakened condition brought on heart attacks of some severity. These attacks occurred on several days during the past week and were alarming.

"While the justice's condition has been critical, he is now showing a slight improvement."

Justice Cardozo, readily identified on the bench by his tousled white hair, suffered similar heart trouble in June, 1935, at Rye, N. Y., but fully recovered. He was appointed to the supreme court in 1932 by President Hoover, and has been one of the justices most sympathetic to Roosevelt administration legislation.

He is not expected to be back at work before Jan. 18, when Justice George Sutherland retires. Unless President Roosevelt nominates the latter's successor before that time, there will be only seven active members on the court.

COOPER HIGHEST PAID FILM STAR

But Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Of General Motors, Tops Them All

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Gary Cooper was the highest-paid movie star in 1936, records of a house committee showed today, but Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors received more remuneration than any Hollywood hero.

Sloan, whose pay was $561,311, and 12 other General Motors executives each got more than $300,000 for the year's work. Cooper, who received $370,214, replaced Mae West as Hollywood's best-paid actor.

The blonde leading lady received $323,333, for her 1936 films, less than the amount paid Cooper, Ronald Colman ($302,500) and Claudette Colbert ($350,833).

Information furnished the treasury by corporations which paid individuals more than $15,000 in salaries, bonus, commissions and other compensation during the year was made public by the house ways and means committee.

Ten top men and women on the salary list were:

1. Sloan, 2. William S. Knudsen, vice-president of General Motors ($455,878), 3. Cooper, 4. Colman, 5. Donaldson Brown, vice-president, General Motors Corp. ($353,732), 6. Miss Colbert, 7. John Thomas Smith, general counsel, General Motors Corp. ($349,257), 8. Thomas J. Watson, president, International Business Machines Corp. ($342,068), 9. S. P. Skouras, New York and California theater operator, ($341,068), 10. Miss West.

Among the movie stars who received more than $200,000 were: Madeline Carroll, $287,913; Warner Baxter $284,384; Marlene Dietrich $269,333; Ruth Chatterton $249,500, and Charles Boyer $249,145.

Burglary charges against the pair were disregarded.

Discordant Notes Mark Tune-up For Primary Election

Warring Democrats Profess Harmony Goal At Dinner

SAWYER DEMANDS CHANGE IN PARTY

G. O. P. State Leaders In Drive To Present United Front

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 10.—Discordant notes resounded today as Ohio Democrats and Republicans tuned their campaign horns for the primary election seven months away.

Harmony pleas voiced by warring factions at Saturday's Jackson day Democratic dinner were drowned out by Charles Sawyer's open call for a rehabilitation of party policies within the state.

Discussion plagued Republican ranks as state leaders strove to form a united battle line for the August ballot test.

Announcement Predicted
Sawyer's demand for "a change from hatred and distrust to friendliness and cooperation" was regarded by some observers as the forerunner for an announcement of his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

It was considered possible that the announcement might come Thursday at a Jackson day banquet in Norwood, Cincinnati suburb, when the former lieutenant governor will be presented petitions urging him to be a candidate.

Gov. Martin L. Davey gave no inkling in a perfunctory Jackson day address Saturday night whether he would seek a third term. He predicted, however, that the November election would be "the outstanding landmark of Democratic progress and success in Ohio."

Nine hundred Democrats who attended the banquet at $25 a plate also heard Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper appeal for support for President Roosevelt's policies.

Mention No Names
Sawyer mentioned no names when he stated that "no party can stand forever the punishment which the Democratic party is now getting in Ohio; x x x from within—from Democrats."

His remark that "public officials who should cooperate at war with each other," followed a week of startling developments in the overwhelming Democratic Ohio general assembly.

Governor Davey went before the house and a state-wide radio audience last Monday, made specific charges against 11 senators and Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder; and demanded a searching inquiry of the senate and state departments.

House Democrats promptly scuttled the inquiry proposal as a spe-

FIREMEN SAVE BISHOP ALBERS

Overcome By Smoke From Flames In Chancery; Escape Blocked By Fire

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 10.—Firemen rescued Bishop Joseph H. Alers from the flaming chancery of the Lansing diocese of the Catholic church today.

Overcome by smoke, the bishop was taken to St. Lawrence hospital where attendants said he had not been burned but had suffered from smoke inhalation and would remain temporarily at the hospital.

Firemen said the bishop was awakened at 6:30 a. m. by the odor of smoke, and found flames blocked his escape. He ran to a window to call for help and collapsed as smoke billowed about him.

The fire started in the secretary's office of the chancery, but its cause was not immediately determined.

The bishop was unconscious when firemen lifted him through his bedroom window and carried him down a ladder to the kitchen of the rectory, where a rescue crew administered first aid.

Bishop Alers is the first head of the newly created Lansing diocese. He was installed Aug. 4. He came to Lansing from Cincinnati.

Medical Society To Hear Dr. Urban

Salem physicians will attend the monthly meeting of the Columbiana County Medical society at Lisbon Tuesday night when Dr. W. J. Urban of Massillon will speak.

Dr. Urban, a neuropsychiatrist associated with the Massillon State hospital, will speak on "The Diagnosis and Treatment of the Common Psychoses." The meeting will be held in the Lisbon American Legion home. Lunch will be served.

The medical society recently elected Dr. L. W. King of Salem as president and named Dr. L. C. Ziegler of Salem secretary-treasurer.

"ALIEN PROBLEM" FADES AWAY

Since 1920 when the number of unnaturalized aliens in the United States was referred to as a grave problem, the number of aliens has decreased from 7,000,000 to 4,300,000 according to immigration authorities. There is no longer any talk of an "alien problem" in the country.

Several things contributed. Industrial depression in this country cut so sharply into immigration that many countries have failed to fill their small quotas. Some have placed sharp restriction on emigration, stopping those who might want to come.

Still others, already in this country, have been led by various reasons, to apply for citizenship. The rush to qualify for social security benefits probably brought the biggest stampede to take out papers. Fear of being called back to serve in war led others to become citizens of the United States which they consider less likely than their fatherland to go fighting.

WORDS OF ONE SYLLABLE

Second thoughts on the President's annual budget message bring up the thought that it is the longest, most complex document the public is invited to try to understand in the course of the political year.

No one ever does understand it fully. Like bank reports and reports to stockholders, it really isn't expected to be understood. All the public wants to know is: Did the government make out or not? Details don't matter.

Away back at the beginning of this decade, the government quit making out. It has whistled in the dark, sneaked up on its deficits, tried to hide them behind screens, looked for bluebirds around corners and so on, but each January the story is the same. The deficit for the current year will be larger than expected.

That's the story again this year, along with the prediction there will be another deficit next year. It's old stuff now, something every American can guess months before the reading clerk clears his throat and gets ready to break the bad news again. What a story it will be when—and if—a reading clerk gets up some day to announce the books are balanced and that next year there will be a surplus, if nothing happens!

THE AIR WAVES ARE FREE

Of all the international conferences none has a more tangled problem than that which meets in February in Cairo, Egypt, in an attempt to bring order into Europe's broadcasting muddle.

Radio, which to Americans means entertainment, music and fun, is a serious business in much of Europe. Many of the countries use their stations, especially those on short wave, for the dissemination of propaganda. The biggest battle of the air just now aims its broadcasts at Palestine where the British, angered at Italian propaganda tending to inflame the Arab population, has set up its own counter-attack of oratory.

All of the dictatorial countries suppress or regulate the newspapers and maintain regular radio broadcasts to give their people the information they want them to have. They cannot build a wall at the frontier against the radio waves from other countries, however, and their people can tune in on speeches that their rulers don't want them to hear.

The number of powerful short wave stations in Europe has trebled within a year and each is an instrument for broadcasting political views to neighboring countries.

This is a situation which confronts the Cairo conference as it attempts to work out new conventions by which the nations will be bound by something more than mere ethics to quit talking to their neighbors about things the head of the house doesn't want them to know.

Continued reports about official Soviet action tend to confirm the belief that Russia is an interesting country to stay out of.

Another thing we've been wondering about is, if the Japanese wished one another a happy New Year. But if they did, we suppose it would be with reservations.

Every time we see a bunch of pedestrians crossing the street against the traffic light, we wonder if the same persons drive their automobiles through the red light, too.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, January 11

A progressive, prosperous and happy day is forecast from the prevailing astral influences. It is a good time for seeking promotion, increase or favors from employers, superiors or those in places of power.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of outstanding progress and prosperity with much personal happiness. Promotion, financial increase, tokens of preferment and honor are in order. Deal with corporations, rings, political, diplomatic and fraternal bodies.

A child born on this day may be splendidly equipped for success and position in life. It will have fine talents, be ambitious and have a charming and pleasant personality as well.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—Diary: Breakfasted on succulent slices of a Tennessee ham Dean Cornwell expressed from Nashville, where he has been painting murals. And a note from Gilda Gray chanting praise for the ranch life she has permanently adopted in the Colorado high country.

Came, too, the saltiest limerick in many moons from Burt MacBride, one of Harry Burton's pamphleteers. And so out with my wife and dropped in to the Stork Club for a spot of tea and all eyes for an amazingly beautiful cigarette girl with that new pageboy hair do.

To the dinner party at Sherry's that W. W. Hawkins and his three fine boys gave, all the town there. Later to join some folk at the Colony and my wife sat a moment at another table with Mrs. Ellen Berlin, looking the loveliest we ever saw her in a powder blue gown.

Nothing fascinates thumb-twiddling antiquarians like watching folk in a restaurant. Down at venerable Whyte's on Fulton street the other mid-afternoon a table of straggling lunchers remained to talk things over. At the bar was a youth who did not fit in with the Whyte sedateness. He weaved over a half-filled glass. Then picked it up and staggered to the phone booth, and, as people often do on the loose, called up someone far away. He had to get a handful of quarters. The glass now was empty and he ordered a refill. "Sorry, but you have had enough," said the bartender, pleasantly but firmly. He insisted on "jush one more" to no avail, then walked out in a sort of haze. An hour later I saw him three blocks away going through his pockets fumbly-like. Finally he swayed over to a doorway and collapsed like a slowly deflating balloon.

In robust drinking days I used to drop around now and then to visit a well-crowded bar on 4th avenue in the 20's, where the tourist never appears and where patrons were almost invariably men of culture and erudition, but often a bit run down at heel. There was a Lawrence D'Orsay-looking Englishman, once a shunter at the old Paddington station who became a sub-editor of the London Times. Later he has been attached to an American encyclopedia. He spoke French fluently. Indeed, he professed to talk in 20 languages and to prove it would carry on creditable conversations with the Greek shine boy, a German waiter and a French bartender.

It does not strike me there is a place for Mae West's dubious inflections on the radio. Nor on the screen, for all that. In my book, she is definitely for the Minsky trade. That much discussed appearance on a Sunday night radio hour had a tinge of sacrilege. Miss West's brand of innuendoes does not strike me as even clever double entendre, but if it were only the usual jovial commonness it has no right on programs heard by children. Such guttery material is exactly what jockeyed the legitimate theatre behind the eight ball. Entertainment purveyors seem unable to learn the lesson of charm and profits in "Lightnin'" which ran three years without a single suggestive line or situation. And watch "Snow White" with the same purity top the movie records!

Strictly speaking, New York no longer has a "sob sister." That is, the manner of Zoe Beckley, Nicola Greeley-Smith, Jane Dixon and similar byline favorites of another decade. The sob sister was most conspicuous in the Evelyn Thaw era. Special women writers today, such as Adela Rogers St. Johns and Helen Worden make no effort to wring tears. They merely write from the feminine angle.

Bagatelles: Louis Bromfield writes but two hours a day on his novels, from 9:30 to 11:30. Ex-President Hoover, despite many ocean crossings is always a bit seasick. Winnie Sheehan, who never went to opera until he married Jeritta, now goes every chance he gets. Sophie Tucker and Victor Moore are regarded as the most financially secure of the vaudeville folk. Grace Moore has been receiving the Bronx cheer from Broadway columnists, who say she boomed some impromptu diodes of stage folk at El Morocco. She denies it.

Amos n' Andy have avoided personal quarrels during their long association by seeing each other only at rehearsals and actual broadcasts. Grove Patterson, of Toledo, O., is the middle west's most widely traveled newspaper editor. Amos Carter, of Ft. Worth, Texas, is regarded as the most lavish Manhattan entertainer among the regular out-of-town visitors.

Note from Bugs Baer: "Dear Odd—Simeon of Stylus lived on his column for 37 years, man and boy. You and I still have a few contracts to work out."

See New Threat to Democracy in Rumania

International political observers are pondering the effect of Rumania's new semi-Fascist cabinet, headed by Premier Octavian Goga. Installed by King Carol after it finished fourth in an undecisive national election, Goga's National Christian party may constitute a direct threat to the remaining democracies of Europe. The new government is said to lean toward Berlin and Rome rather than London and Paris. It is anti-Semitic. Madame Magda Lupescu, King Carol's red-headed Jewish sweetheart, was reported ready to sojourn in Paris until the Goga regime was firmly entrenched.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

JAUNDICE

JAUNDICE is a disagreeable condition. The sufferer has a peculiar yellowish discoloration of the skin. Even the whites of the eyes appear yellow. The most marked discomfort it produces is the intense itching of the skin and the uncontrollable impulse to scratch it.

Dr. Copeland

In reality jaundice is not a disease, but is a symptom or sign of some disorder of the bile passages, which prevents the escape of the bile. Under normal conditions the bile is formed in the liver and is stored in the gall bladder. A duct or canal carries the bile to the intestine. Here it has an important part in the digestion of the fat which has been eaten. Unless the bile is steadily produced, the contents of the intestinal canal putrefy. When the flow of bile is reduced, very quick symptoms of indigestion will follow.

Info Blood Stream

It will be seen that if there is an obstruction to one of the passages the bile will be dammed back. Then there is an overflow of bile into the blood stream. When an excessive amount of bile is absorbed into the blood and carried to different portions of the body, it causes jaundice, the name given the yellowish discoloration of the skin.

The mechanical obstruction which is the cause of the jaundice may be due to one of many things. For example, it may accompany any inflammation of the stomach, intestine, liver or gall bladder. Gallstone is a common cause. The stone may be so located as to block the passage of bile. In rare instances, jaundice may be a sign of some serious disturbance of the pancreas or blood. Certain diseases, such as malaria, Bright's disease, pneumonia and typhoid fever, may cause jaundice.

Fortunately, most cases of jaundice are very mild. The trouble quickly disappears.

There may be slight headache, dizziness, nausea and vomiting together with a lemon-yellow discoloration of the skin.

MOSCOW, IDAHO.—"A new and revolutionary religious teaching designed to show how we may find, understand and use the identical power which Jesus used, is attracting world-wide attention to its founder, Dr. Frank B. Robinson, noted psychologist and author.

"Psychiana," this new scientific teaching, believes that it is today possible for every normal human being, understanding spiritual law as Christ understood it, "to duplicate every work that he ever did."

Dr. Robinson has prepared a 6,000 word treatise on "Psychiana," in which he tells about his long search for the Truth, how he finally came to the full realization of an Unseen Power or force "so dynamic in itself that all other powers and forces fade into insignificance beside it"—how he learned to commune directly with the Living God, using this never-failing power to demonstrate health, happiness and financial success, and how any normal being may find and use it.

Just send your name and address to Dr. Frank B. Robinson, 436 First Street, Moscow, Idaho. This fascinating story will be sent free and postpaid without cost or obligation. Write the Doctor today.—Copyright 1937, Dr. Frank B. Robinson.—Ad-retirement.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat

Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chagrined, your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes these little black tablets called Rennin for digestion to make the gases stomach acid harmless, yellow diarrhea in a minute and put you back on your feet. Relief in 10 to 15 minutes and you feel the package proves it. Ask for Rennin for digestion.

cial senate graft-hunting committee pushed its investigation of circumstances surrounding state purchases.

State administration supporters interpreted Davey's action as laying the groundwork for seeking a third term. His close friends say privately that he will be a candidate for re-nomination.

Sawyer Backed By F. D. R.

Behind Davey would be a political machine built up in more than three years in office. Behind Sawyer likely would be the tact, if not open, approval of the Roosevelt administration, against which Davey has directed several critical blasts.

Sawyer is Democratic national committeeman for Ohio and a supporter of New Deal policies. Disension among Republicans has been directed principally to various districts where criticism has been directed at the state committee's policy of pre-primary endorsement of certain candidates.

John W. Bricker, the Republican gubernatorial nominee in 1936, is expected to seek the nomination this year and his friends say he may announce his candidacy at Dayton's annual McKinley day banquet next month.

Republican leaders are hopeful of presenting a united State slate headed by Bricker at the August primary and carrying it into November.

Millions Are Fighting That Tired Feeling

Some people are always tired, no matter how much sleep they get. Often they are just suffering from constipation. For early fatigue, mental dullness, sleeplessness, sour stomach and its resultant bad breath, mental depression, the aggravation of most skin blemishes, can all be caused by it. So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions are sold yearly. Theater Attractions

"Boy of the Streets," starring Jackie Cooper, continues its three-day run through tonight and Tuesday at the Grand theater. The story tells of a tenement boy's fight to rise above the slums.

In the cast are Maureen O'Connor, young radio singing star; Marjorie Main, New York stage star, who played the gangster's mother in film and stage productions of "Dead End"; Kathleen Burke, originally brought to public attention as "The Panther Woman"; Robert Emmett O'Connor, famous for his portrayal of kindly "cops" in theater and films; Guy Usher, Gordon Elliott, George Cleveland and Matty Fain.

Would Be "Big Shot" Jackie Cooper, as Chuck, worshipping of success, is the leader of a gang of young hoodlums. His only ambition is to be a big shot, like his father. His greatest disillusionment comes when he realizes his father is not the big political boss the boy had thought but a four-flusher and a fake.

"Wells Fargo," starring Frances Dee and Joel McCrea, will be seen tonight and Tuesday at the State. The story is concerned in the main with the necessity which arose in the West for dependable transportation service across the continent to California, to carry the mails and news to the scattered wildcat towns on the frontier, and to return to the East with gold and silver. How this need was filled by the enterprising firm of Wells Fargo & Company forms the background of the picture.

"GIVE HER WINGS" by MARIE BLIZARD

SYNOPSIS
When Julie Allerdye, 19-year-old daughter of Professor Allerdye of the Ramsey Preparatory School for Boys, manages to get herself engaged to Dr. Richard Jessup, Fayette's most eligible bachelor, she looks forward to a glamorous future as a married woman. Of course, most people in town had thought Dick would marry Millicent Dodd who is 33 while he is 38, but Millicent hides her disappointment and gives an engagement party for Julie. Less tactful is Tommy Jessup, Dick's younger brother. He is still in college, and has always loved Julie. He tells her she will be sorry if she spoils four lives by marrying Dick. Julie tells Tommy to mind his business, but in less than six weeks she begins to find being engaged is boring. It is then she remembers the words of Pete Waddell, barnstorming aviator who gives flying lessons at a neighboring field. He had told her there was a great future in flying for a beautiful girl. She makes a trial flight with Waddell and decides she will learn to be a flyer. But the course costs a hundred dollars. Julie borrows the money from Millicent Dodd. In the class, Julie notes there is one other girl, Rita Cartwright. Waddell tells Julie Rita's father is a wealthy utilities king and that it might be profitable to cultivate the girl's friendship. Julie had already decided to do that.

CHAPTER XII
Out-of-doors the locusts buzzed mechanically. The sound was like the drilling of a dentist. It was a foreboding that the day was going to be hot. Already, though it was but a little after seven, the sun's rays were baking the dry earth. The air was motionless.
Julie wanted to stay in bed but her night-dress clung to her uncomfortably. The bed was rumpled, hot, uncomfortable from her restless tossing in the sleepless night. Thank heaven it was Tuesday! A classroom day. The prospect of two hours under the sun-baked hangar roof was not a pleasant one but, at least, it was better than having to fly. The long, dusty drive to Clunesville and the two hour session were not exciting to contemplate but flying was impossible.

Today's Pattern

FITS PERFECTLY

Pattern 4683

Perfect in fit, smooth of line, is this dainty model—and what more could you ask of a slip that's as easy to make as Pattern 4683? This season, more than any other, your smart appearance depends a great deal on your "undies"—you MUST have sleek, supple lines that mould you well, and the only way to attain them is to have a slip that's made just for you. So get busy and select your fabric today—tubular, synthetic, crepe, cotton, or satin are all appropriate materials, and they'll wear well too. Note specially the brassiere-effect and semi-princess lines.

Her nerves weren't up to it. She'd had three hours in the air. She'd handled the controls, taken the plane off the ground, but she hadn't learned to do it without her teeth chattering and her knees turning to water.
Grinning, only by loosening the taut muscles of her jaw, she'd said she loved it. Wondering if the rest of them felt the same way she did. She was at a loss to understand all her fellow students. They poured over maps, charts, the instrument board, hung around the hangar after class. Rita Cartwright too. It was hard for her to understand. They liked flying.

Julie didn't. She despaired of ever liking it. It wasn't so much that she didn't like it as that it terrified her. No amount of classroom work, no intimate knowledge of theories, of what made it fly, could make clear to her what kept a plane in the air. Some part of her refused to let the knowledge get past it into her brain.

It never once occurred to her to tell that to one person, or to turn back from the course she had set for herself. It cost her a hundred dollars to learn to fly and she was going to do it. Her first hunch that Pete Waddell had known what he was talking about when he said she had a future had not deserted her.

There was another thing that she enjoyed: she had taken on new prestige in Fayette.

Julie is learning to fly. Not really! How thrilling! Aren't you scared to death, Julie? Of course not, silly, what is there to be scared of? Look at the Lindberghs. Look at Amelia Earhart, look at them. Look at Julie Allerdye carelessly swinging her helmet in her hands as she crosses the field, knowing that all eyes are fixed admiringly on her. Just a slip of a girl.

See her swing lightly into her seat, pull the goggles down over her eyes, adjust the helmet under her chin. You can't see her eyes and you wouldn't know that her hands are damp. You wouldn't know that she is thinking, Pete's in the after cockpit. I'm safe with him. It's a dual control plane. He talks to her through a telephone. He can't see her face. She can't freeze to the stick. There's an automatic control.

Her eyes are glued to the dash as they travel over the ground at a little more than minimum speed. "Watch the air speed indicator—later you'll have to judge for yourself, the indicator may be faulty." Oh, please, Dear God, never! "All right, as flying speed is approached, pull the stick back slowly. The motion must be very slight."

Then she was following directions, later easing the stick forward gently, rising, getting speed, altitude. In a little while the first lesson was over.

The second lesson, learning to handle the three controls. The third lesson, landing. Is it possible that after twelve, she would know enough to do all these things solo?

Thinking about that wasn't going to make the day any more comfortable. Julie got up, pulling the silk nightgown over her head and being very quiet about it. She wanted the shower before Priscilla made one of her flying leaps for the bathroom.

Over the running water she heard the distant tinkle of the telephone.

"Julie! It's for you!" Julie dried herself, snatched her kimono from the hook on the door and ran downstairs hoping that the lesson had been called off.

It was Althea Turner. "It's going to be a scorcher, Julie." Julie knew that and said so. "So we're going to pack a lunch and go over to the quarry and swim all day. There's a whole gang of girls going."

It was lovely and cool at the quarry. Julie thought of the tranquility. It would be fun to lie around in a bathing suit all day and come back when the afternoon had turned cool. Lots more fun than driving thirty-six miles over a dusty road with your heart pounding against your ribs the way it always did when you came home from a class.

She thought of all she had been through. She thought of the day she had swallowed her pride and borrowed the money from Millicent. She thought of those three hours she had already spent in the air.

She said, "Sorry, darling, but I can't. You know I have to be at the field at ten and I wouldn't miss that for anything in the world! It's getting to be grand fun."
"Well, you aren't going to stay there all day, are you?" Julie said she wasn't.
"And you've got Tommy's car. Why don't you drive over when you get home?"

That sounded like a good idea. Julie dressed. Step-ins. A brown-checked gingham dress you couldn't see through. Socks. Rubber-soled shoes.

he filled her compact, put her

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport. Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.
For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomfort from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."
Don't be a three-quarter wife, take Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

emergency dollar in her pocketbook along with her clean handkerchief and comb. She fished around in the cedar chest for her bathing suit. A wisp of white wool she had knitted in the winter and never worn. She was sorry that its initial appearance would be wasted on the girls. She rolled it up in a little bundle, tied it up in a Turkish towel and went down to breakfast.

The telephone rang again. Julie glanced at the clock. Twenty-five minutes of nine. She hoped it wasn't for her; she had to walk down to Judge Platt's office to get Tommy's car and it was an hour's drive to Clunesville in the Hattle-trap.

It was for her, it was Dick Jessup.

Apologizing as usual, for being unable to come to supper that night. The Tupper's baby was on its way and he thought it unlikely that it would be over before midnight. Julie heard him with no feelings about it one way or another. A month before she would have been angry but sweet. Now she said, "I'm sorry, Dick, but maybe it's just as well. I'm having a lesson today and later I'm going to join the gang swimming. If you get away we might catch the second show at the movies."

He had something he wanted to tell her but she cut him short; it was getting late.

Two hours later, sitting on her car's canvas chair, she tried to fix her attention on Waddell. He had chosen this morning to review the three previous ground lessons, knowing that it was no day to try to impress the heat-sodden minds of his class with additional knowledge.

Waddell, in a shirt with the sleeves cut off at the elbow, lounged indolently on the table. His class squirmed. "I think I'll have a look at your notebooks," he said.

Julie had left hers in the car. She went out in the heat to get it. thought of the cool pool at the quarry, remembered her swimming suit and an idea came to her.

Perhaps Rita Cartwright—Julie hadn't made much progress in her friendship with the other girl. They greeted each other cordially, exchanged opinions in class, that was all. Julie was too wise to force herself on the other girl, to show an undue interest.

She got her notebook off the seat where she had left it, undid the towel in which her bathing suit was wrapped, stuck the notebook in the bundle, rewrapped it and ran back to the hangar.

She opened the bundle and got the book out. Her bathing suit fell to the floor as if by accident. She rolled it up hastily and put it in back of her on the chair.

The lesson droned on. The class perspired. Finally Pete said, "Class dismissed. It's too infernally hot to work today. Lessons aloft! Hynes, tomorrow at two. Donnelly, at three. Thursday at ten for Cartwright. Thursday at twelve for Allerdye...."

IF it looked like THIS - Wouldn't you KEEP FROM BETWEEN PARKED CARS ?

In reality the danger IS great!

With the notation "ran from behind parked cars" found all too frequently on accident reports involving youngsters, the O. S. A. A. A. A. school safety poster for January carries a timely message to children everywhere, according to A. E. Beardmore, president of the Columbiana Motor club. Beardmore made this statement as the colorful January poster was distributed to schools in the club territory.

The two-color poster shows a group of horses with hoofs pounding the pavement as they swing past two parked cars. On the sidewalk is a hesitant youngster, accompanied by his dog, on the verge of crossing the street until he saw the runaway horses.

"If it looked like this—wouldn't you keep from between parked cars? In reality the danger is great! This is the January safety message that will go to millions of school children throughout the country."

The A. A. A. club official said that "as schools teach youngsters to keep from between parked cars, parents should do the same thing at home. It may mean the difference between life and death for some youngster."

DO COW-PUNCHERS APPRECIATE CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS ?

TED YOCHUM was born and raised in the cattle country. Speaking from personal observation, Ted says: "Cow-punchers are great Camel smokers. Seems like if a man smokes Camels once—he sticks to 'em. Come round-up time—I'm in the saddle for hours, and not sparin' myself. A Camel sure hits the spot then. I get a mighty pleasant 'lift.'"

Yes, and to America at large, Camel's costlier tobaccos have such a special appeal that they are the largest-selling cigarette in this country!

AUTO MECHANIC Al Patterson says: "In the garage business you have to catch your meals on the run. I find that Camels seem to smooth the way for good digestion. The Mrs. smokes Camels too."

CHIEF SIGNALMAN John Geraghty: "You don't have to be a railroad man to know that speed and safety—our watchwords—call for healthy nerves. I smoke plenty. Camels don't jangle my nerves."

PERSONAL SHOPPER Irene Sherwood says: "I guess every woman knows how hectic shopping is. I'm up against six days a week. When I'm fatigued, I light up a Camel. It helps me to snap back."

SALESGIRL Elsie Schumacher works in a department store. She says: "When the rush gets me to feeling worn out—it's me for a Camel, and I get a quick 'lift.' Practically all of us girls in the store prefer Camels."

PHARMACIST J. E. Bayus says: "I get in a lot of Camel smoking. And when I say I never tire of Camel's taste—it's experience talking."

CHAMPION TYPIST Remo Poulsen: "I enjoy Camels from one end of the day to the other. And Camels are so mild, they don't irritate my throat."

SALEM HIGH QUINT CHALKS UP THIRD VICTORY

QUAKERS RALLY TO TOP CHANEY IN ROUGH FRAY

Salem High Cagers Gain 41-29 Victory Over Steel City Five

The close defeat Salem High School's basketball team handed over at Dover last Friday night was forgotten today in the light of a smashing 41 to 29 victory the Quakers gained over Youngstown Chaney at the local gym Saturday night.

The triumph was the Quakers third of the 1937-38 season and a highly important one considering the fact that Chaney is ranked as one of the better teams in the Youngstown sector.

Two games are booked for Coach Herb Brown's Red and Black lads this week. The first game of the week will be played against Alliance High's Aviators at Alliance Friday night. The second contest will be against Youngstown Raven at the High school gym here Saturday night.

The Quakers showed the power to come from behind in conquering the touted Chaney aggregation. The Red and Black lads were on the short end of a 20 to 13 score at halftime, but rallied brilliantly in the second half to gain the victory.

Ole Olexa, Max Lutsch, Bill Schaeffer and Gilbert Everhart shared equal honors in the second half spurt in which the Quakers outscored Chaney, 28 points to nine. Brown's charges began clicking in a rough and fast third quarter to score 13 points to Chaney's five and take a one-point lead, 26 to 25, when this period ended.

Continuing their spurt in the final period, the Quakers tallied 15 points while limiting the Youngstown cagers to four.

Chaney gained the seven point lead it held at halftime in the second quarter by scoring eight points to the Quakers one. The teams played on even terms in the first period, each chalking up 12 points.

In both the third and fourth quarters in which the Quakers made their comeback, the action was exceptionally rough and fast. Four players—Lutsch of Salem and George Poschner, Frank Terlecki and George Kollar of Chaney—were banished from the game in the fourth quarter because of too many fouls.

Two other players—Everhart of Salem and Frank Sinkwich of Chaney—had three fouls chalked up against them.

Olexa and Lutsch led the Quakers in scoring in the contest, each collecting 11 points. Schaeffer tallied 10 points and Everhart seven. Jim Dickey and Glen McLaughlin each made one point for Salem.

Terlecki, All-Ohio fullback in football last fall, paced the Chaney cagers in the scoring column with 12 points, made on three field goals and six fouls.

Although the play of the entire Salem team merits considerable praise, the performance of Max Lutsch was perhaps the standout feature of the contest.

The husky Salem center, who always is a big help to the Quakers in pulling down rebounds from the backboard, was backward about shooting in the Red and Black's first three games of the season, but he overcame this difficulty Saturday night and discovered that his shooting eye is just as good as that of his classmates.

Lutsch contributed four field goals to the Quakers victory in addition to making three free throws.

The Quakers foul shooting was better than against Dover, but it was still not up to par. The Red and Black cagers made 11 of 19 free throws. Chaney connected on nine of 13 charity tosses.

Jim Kleon led the Quakers reserves to a 30 to 26 victory over the Chaney secondaries in the preliminary game. Kleon tallied 10 points to assist the Salem reserves in gaining their close triumph.

Al Heitz was the big gun for the Chaney reserves, collecting 15 points on six field goals and three foul shots.

Like the varsity, it was the Salem reserves third win in four starts so far this season.

BOWLING RESULTS

Salem teams bowling at the Warren Pastime alleys in Youngstown yesterday came out on top in two of three matches.

The Sinclairs of the Commercial league took the measure of Lustig Shoes, 2803 to 2780, with Clyde (Wink) Miller hitting 617 to star in the victory. Miller combined games of 219, 206 and 192 for his fine score.

The Grate Wreckers ladies team of Salem rolled a neat 2206 score to defeat the Honus Lurch ladies of Youngstown by 32 pins. Mrs. Frieda Orr was high for the Salem ladies with 470.

The lone Salem team to suffer defeat was the Grate Recreation five, which fell before the Reyback & McIntee team, 2907 to 2885.

SALEM BOXERS ON RING CARD

Local Fighters Appear Against East Palestine Scrappers

Four Salem fighters, representing Jimmy Perry's Athletic club, will tangle with East Palestine leather-pushers in amateur bouts at East Palestine tonight.

The Salem lads appearing on the program are Dick Eakin, Pete Fiani, George Dickey and Don West. The bouts will consist of three, two-minute rounds.

Eakin will square off against Ray Chaplow at 135-pounds in one of the feature bouts. Fiani will meet Enoch Henry in a 29-pound tussle. Dickey will battle Everett Dickens in a 118-pound scrap and West will meet George Kayle in a 125-pound affair.

The first bout will start promptly at 8 o'clock at the Knights of Columbus hall. George Julian, former Salemite, is promoter of the card.

PROSPECT COPS LEAGUE HONORS

Wins First Round Championship In Mickey McGuire Loop

Defeating Fourth Street, 39 to 15, for its fifth straight victory, Prospect school won the first round championship of the Mickey McGuire Basketball league at the Memorial building Saturday morning.

George Drakulich, the leading scorer of the grade school loop, led Prospect to its win, scoring 24 points. Ray Wise tallied 13 of Fourth Street's 15 points.

In other league games Saturday, Columbia soundly trounced St. Paul's cagers, 24 to 6, and McKinley gained an easy 28 to 9 victory over Rellly.

Appedisan scored 10 points to lead Columbia to victory, while Green carried off individual honors in McKinley's win by tallying 14 points.

Methodists Take Lead In Class C

First place in the Class C Basketball league belonged solely to the Methodists today following the Junior Trojans defeat in league games at the Memorial building Saturday.

The Methodists gained their fifth straight win by trouncing the Trinity Lutherans, 29 to 19, while the Trojans, who were tied with the M. E. team for first place, lost out to the Emmanuel Lutherans, 11 to 10, in an overtime contest.

In other Class C games, the Baptists walloped the Christians, 28 to 6, and the Columbians defeated the Presbyterians, 29 to 25.

Because summaries were turned in after the sports deadline this morning, they will be published tomorrow.

GOSHEN QUINTET SUFFERS DEFEAT

Damascus All-Stars Win Over Beloit Ex-High Team, 22 to 10

DAMASCUS, Jan. 10.—With Parks and Mollenkopf leading the scoring, Springfield Township High cagers walloped Goshen High, 31 to 17, here Saturday night.

Parks and Mollenkopf each tallied 10 points to carry off honors for the Springfield quintet. Stanley led Goshen scoring with eight points.

The Springfield reserves topped Goshen secondaries, 19 to 4, in the prelim.

Playing in the nightcap, the Damascus All-Stars trounced the Beloit Ex-Highs, 22 to 10.

The All-Stars led throughout the contest, holding an 8 to 0 edge at the end of the first quarter, a 15 to 6 advantage at halftime and a 20 to 8 lead at the close of the third period.

Don Slagle, former Salem High cager, paced the All-Stars in scoring with eight points.

Cleveland C. Of C. Opposes Canal Plan

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10. — The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce today opposed plans for a Lake Erie-Ohio river canal calling for expenditure of $178,965,000 for a 13 foot channel from Rochester, Pa., on the Ohio river, to Wheeler creek, west of Ashtabula.

The chamber board of directors approved a report by its transportation committee which said "if the cost of construction should exceed the estimate, or if a lesser amount of tonnage is conveyed than is anticipated, savings would be sharply reduced and perhaps entirely eliminated."

Under the proposal, the government would pay $152,039,000 and local interests along the line the right of way $26,926,000 toward the estimated total cost.

The Rat Escaped

LOS ANGELES—If you can build a better rat-trap, John Wilson is a likely customer.

He shot a rat in his home, but the bullet hit a water pipe. Fragments of pipe and bouncing bullet inflicted minor wounds on Wilson's face, and water spurting from the punctured pipe caused a small flood. The rat escaped.

Approval Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—A prediction that the house judiciary committee would approve within two weeks legislation providing for appointment of 12 additional federal judges, including one in northern Ohio, came today from Representative Houston (D-Kans.).

It's the old, old story over again... an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. And so it is with your eyes. Take an ounce of prevention—have them thoroughly examined NOW! Free yourself from the danger of serious and expensive eye trouble in later years.
